

Were your experiments successful?

Are you going to publish them?

When it comes time to publish your results, we would like you to mention where you found the right equipment to collect your data. We would like to suggest that you include the following acknowledgement in your paper:

*We thankfully acknowledge the use of instruments
in the Keck Biophysics Facility at Northwestern University [<http://www.biochem.northwestern.edu/Keck/keckmain.html>]

Please let us know about your publications, which our facility helped to make possible.

Just e-mail a complete reference to:

katiefavale@northwestern.edu

Thank you!